4.

Revenue Trends:

- Peak Revenue Month: March
- Revenue by Day: Weekends perform better than weekdays, with consistent sales throughout.
- Hourly Revenue Trends: Sales peak during evening hours (5 PM - 8 PM).

Recommendations

1. Focus on High-Revenue Items:

- Promote the Angus Third Pounder, Big Mac, and Chicken items through targeted campaigns to capitalize on their popularity.

2. Increase Average Items per Order:

- Bundle high-performing dishes with complementary items (e.g., drinks or sides) to boost average revenue per order.

3. Optimize Peak Hours:

- Increase staff and inventory during evening hours to handle higher order volumes effectively.

4. Weekend Promotions:

- Launch weekend-specific deals to further leverage higher sales trends.

5. Target Underperforming Categories:

- Analyze and revamp the menu for Wraps and Pasta, as they contribute the least to overall revenue. Consider introducing new variants or running promotions.

6. Seasonal Campaigns:

- Utilize the upward trend in revenue during March to plan and execute seasonal promotions or limited-time offerings.

7. Customer Engagement:

- Implement loyalty programs for frequent customers to encourage repeat orders, particularly for high-revenue items.

Recommendations for January 1, 2023:

1. Focus on Morning and Afternoon Orders:

- Since the Breakfast Burrito is the most popular dish, enhance morning menu promotions to boost sales.

2. Leverage Popular Dishes:

- Capitalize on the demand for items like the Big Mac and Chicken Alfredo Pasta by running discounts or combo offers.

3. Address Low-Performing Categories:

- Revise offerings for Wraps and Salads to increase their appeal or remove underperforming items to optimize the menu.

4. Maximize Midday Traffic:

- Enhance staffing and inventory during peak hours (12 PM - 2 PM) to meet demand and improve customer experience.
